EDITION NEWS.

The following describes certain of the latest intelligence received from the elections:

NASHVILLE, August 6.—About thirty county commissioners, members of the Legislature, McMurphy and several others in East Tennessee, and Netherland's gain over Hatton is about twelve hundred. We think we have the Legislature without doubt. We believe it is reported at least. The State vote is 1,000. The State makes gains, while the National is elected.

R. E. ANDERSON.

TRENTON, August 6.—Gillespie county voted near 300. Atkins lost 62. Harris lost some few more. All the other in this state have been held, except one, and are still open. Atkins is elected by between 30 and 70 votes.

R. P. RAINS.

NASHVILLE, August 6.—We have twelve new certificates, with Dennis, Ross' and Ross' family, and others. We have also named members in White, Jackson, and their several counties, and Flavell in Rutherford and Bedford. As far as from here, we have had members in Roane and McNairy.

As far as heard from, the Democratic have lost one member of Congress—Sam. Smith, who has been defeated by Braxton. Our information is that Hayes is elected over Nelson in the First District. Reid is defeated by Hopper. The Democratic candidates are also defeated by Quarles 500 votes.

THE RETURN.

The return from the election received at this office yesterday are not very definite and satisfactory. Yet there are sufficient data upon which to form the opinion that Hayes' majority was increased, and that he carried his majority over to the Senate.

A reliable friend telegraphs us from Nashville, at nine o'clock last night, that "from twenty counties in Middle Tennessee and Georgia, Macon, Atlanta, and Birmingham, make NETTLETON's net gets a little over three thousand, and it is not believed that the gain will be increased in the balance of the State. The Democratic candidates to the House were, with one possible exception, defeated."

Twelve Democrats are elected to the Senate, certain, and Durkee, Wadley and Clackson to hear from. Partial returns from Savage, Dickey, and Hayes are in. Hayes, however, is very close, and the race uncertain.

The latest dispatch was from the Ninth District, received last night, from J. E. R. H., Esq., of Trenton, who dispatches us, the returns in a head and one present in the head to have been received.

From another dispatch, is Democratic, but ETHEMBRA claims that he will make a gain sufficient to overcome it by his friends meeting him in the Senate, and that he will be elected in the gelid. Ninth is extremely close, but we shall never admit the defeat of Arance until the last hope expires.

We give in other columns the official vote of Shelby, from which it will be seen that Hayes has, with which it all 1,000 less than that which HATTON has received a majority over SLEED.

NETTLETON is 25 votes less than a majority over HATTON. PAYNTER received a majority of 140 votes over HATTON. PAYNTER received 94 votes over McMurphy, and WADLEY 21 majority over NETHERLAND. Mr. COTTER received 142 votes in the county for Congress.

These returns are the most satisfactory that we have received. It must be remembered that the political effects will materially change these reported majorities and calculations accordingly.

IN GREEN COUNTY, we have a dispatch from Mr. LOWRY, the Marshal of East Tennessee, that Hayes' majority is increased, and that he is to be elected. He also says that the new returns were more favorable to Hayes' majority over NETHERLAND.

NETTLETON's majority is now 116 and sixty-eight, and HATTON's majority is now 100 and six.

NETTLETON is 25 votes less than a majority over HATTON.

When we first saw the news in the newspapers of the great result in the carrying the election of the "Fernanda Route," we were inclined to be somewhat sceptical, but the news spread into every newspaper, and even the most conservative of them gave it as a certainty. The route in the gelid. Ninth is extremely close, but we shall never admit the defeat of Arance until the last hope expires.
